The 23rd "Ma Zuguang Cup" Campus Science and Technology Festival

Last weekend we witnessed an extraordinary activity organized by our school—the 23rd "Ma Zuguang Cup" Campus Science and Technology Festival.

The event kicked off with the aim of developing our scientific spirit and improving our creativity and practical operation skills. A variety of scientific and technological achievements designed by us students from our school and some other friendly schools were on show in the exhibition areas. Some students actively participated in corresponding competitions where creative ideas shone like stars.

What fun it was. Not only did the festival broaden our horizons but also captured our genuine interest in science and technology. The activity was really met with widespread enthusiasm and even made the headlines in the local newspaper.

Ali looked up and saw the other boys rushing ahead. Refusing to give up at this point, he jumped to his feet and ran as fast as he could. He dashed across the finish line and won the fourth prize. Thinking he would let his sister down, Ali couldn't help sobbing. Just then he suddenly heard the announcement from the broadcast that he won the third prize as the runner who collided with Ali was disqualified for breaking the rule. Holding the shoes close to his chest during the award ceremony, Ali felt overjoyed and relieved.

Filled with delight, Ali walked home quickly. He could not wait to see his sister and share the thrilling news. On his arrival, Ali found Zahra was waiting outside. She was wondering whether her brother had brought her what she was expecting. "Zahra, see what I have got for you." He took the prize out of his bag with his trembling hands. The moment Zahra saw the shoes, her face lit up. So thrilled was she that she threw herself at Ali. "Thank you! Ali." Tears of joy welled up in their eyes.

W: Philip, what's the matter? You look as if you were unhappy.
M: Hi, Sarah. I've had a terrible day with a lot of accidents.

M: One of the lights in my apartment blew out, so I stood on a little chair to replace the light with a new one. As I attempted to get off the chair, I fell off the chair and hurt my knee.
W: Oh, no! That must have really hurt. That was bad luck.
M: And as if that wasn't enough, I was making myself a cup of tea when I split boiling water over my hand. Worse still, when I wanted to hang a picture on the wall in the living room, I hit my finger. Then I was bleeding a little.
W: How awful! Why don't you come around to my place for dinner? It might make you feel better.
M: That's a great idea. I don't think I should risk cooking with the day I'm having.

W: Hello, Anna speaking.
M: Hi, I'm taking a trip on the beach with my family. I'm calling to consult bike rental service.
W: It's my pleasure to be of service to you.

M: OK. Do your bikes have new styles?
W: No, all of our bikes are all old school styles. We currently only have adult male and female beach bicycles, but we are planning to offer kids bikes next Sunday.

W: Well, for each bike, 24 Hours for $55, 2 Days for $65, 3 Days for $75. Free for delivery and pick- up of any bicycle rental that is for 3 days or longer, $25 for delivery and pick- up of bicycle rental lasting 2 days or less. We don't offer delivery for any rental lasting less than 24 hours.
M: Thanks. I'll book two bikes for two days.

Good morning, everyone. Today, we need to talk about choosing a new director for the marketing department. There are two candidates for this position, Amy Coleman and Sam Stewart.

First, let's explore Amy's qualifications for this position. On the positive side, she has excellent communication skills and is experienced in running a marketing team. Additionally, she is really popular among the other employees. On the other side, Amy is not receptive to new information or viewpoints and she's not creative enough.

Now, turning to Sam. In the first place, Sam doesn't have much experience or good communication abilities, compared to Amy. But he seems to have much potential despite his lack of experience. He is very creative and I could see that while working with him in the same team. He works to continuously learn and improve. I know it's hard to find the ideal person to handle this job on the short meeting. We'll meet here again on Friday at 9:00. I am expecting we will make it then.
